

SQM INFORMS ABOUT THE ARBITRATION WITH CORFO

Santiago, Chile. June 23, 2016.- Sociedad Química y Minera de Chile S.A. (SQM) (NYSE: SQM; Santiago Stock Exchange: SQM-B, SQM-A) informs, that as part of the controversy between SQM and CORFO it will initiate a new arbitration process related to the operations in the Salar de Atacama. SQM will make a claim surrounding the Company's global sales of lithium since 1997, and the rental payments associated with these sales.

SQM requests that, with all the facts -and not only from the arbitrarily selected period as CORFO has sought in its previous claims- the arbitrator determine whether or not the payments have been paid correctly, and whether or not there have been tax losses according to how the contract was executed by the parties at beginning and were paid throughout the life of the contract.

SQM believes that it has calculated and made the appropriate rental payments since it began selling lithium in 1997, and maintains its position that it has not committed any errors.

Cautionary Note Regarding Forward-Looking Statements

This news release contains "forward-looking statements" within the meaning of the safe harbor provisions of the U.S. Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. Forward-looking statements can be identified by words such as: "anticipate," "plan," "believe," "estimate," "expect," "strategy," "should," "will" and similar references to future periods. Examples of forward-looking statements include, among others, statements we make concerning the Company's business outlook, future economic performance, anticipated profitability, revenues, expenses, or other financial items, anticipated cost synergies and product or service line growth.

Forward-looking statements are neither historical facts nor assurances of future performance. Instead, they are estimates that reflect the best judgment of SQM management based on currently available information. Because forward-looking statements relate to the future, they involve a number of risks, uncertainties and other factors that are outside of our control and could cause actual results to differ materially from those stated in such statements. Therefore, you should not rely on any of these forward-looking statements. Readers are referred to the documents filed by SQM with the United States Securities and Exchange Commission, specifically the most recent annual report on Form 20-F, which identifies important risk factors that could cause actual results to differ from those contained in the forward-looking statements. All forward-looking statements are based on information available to SQM on the date hereof and SQM assumes no obligation to update such statements, whether as a result of new information, future developments or otherwise.
